

SAVED TRAIN BY HEROIC ACTION

John Lawton Stuck to His Post When
Drive Rod on Engine Broke.

ACTION AVERTED A WRECK

But Engineer Was Terribly Scalded and Burned.—Accident Occurred North of Seymour.

John Lawton, engineer on No. 18, the southbound Pennsylvania passenger train due here at 5:27, was frightfully scalded and burned Friday evening.

The accident occurred near Peters Switch north of Seymour. While the train was running at a speed of forty miles an hour, a drive rod on the engine broke.

The train ran some distance after the accident and the broken rod revolving rapidly whipped the steam pipes from the side of the boiler and also wrecked the cab on the side used by the engineer.

When the pipes were broken off Lawton was enveloped by the escaping steam and hot water, but instead of jumping from the engine he stuck heroically to his post endeavoring to stop the engine and avert a wreck. He succeeded and probably saved his train and the passengers from injury and possible death.

His heroism however, resulted in his being fearfully scalded and burned on the hands, face, legs and feet and it is feared his injuries may prove fatal.

After the train was stopped Lawton was carried into the baggage car and a Jonesville physician was summoned and dressed his injuries.

When the train resumed its trip Lawton was taken to Jeffersonville where he resides. It was necessary to send to Columbus for another engine and an extra engineer. The accident delayed the arrival of the train in Seymour about two hours.

IT IS NOT SAFE

To Own a Dog Which Does Not Wear
A Dollar Necklace.

A city ordinance passed last December, requires that every dog running at large in the city must wear a collar and tag. The latter costs $1. The ordinance provides for the prosecution of any person owning a dog which is allowed to run at large without the dollar necklace. Since the ordinance went into effect in January the city clerk has issued 235 tags. Any one who has kept an eye on the dog population, has observed that there is quite a number of dogs in the city which are liable to be arrested and killed and the owners of which are liable to prosecution. Conviction means a fine in any sum not exceeding $25 and the cost of the prosecution. Quite a number of dogs have met death at the hands of the officers since January.

FIRST REGISTRATION

In Jackson County Next Year Under the New Law.

The first registration in Jackson county under the act passed by the last legislature will take place in May 1912, one hundred and eighty days prior to the national, state, county and city election to be held in November of that year. The law provides for three registrations prior to each election, one in one hundred and eighty days, one in sixty and the last within thirty days of the election. The county pays the expense and the registration relieves the political parties of the expense of polling the different precincts.

When a registration is taken a room must be secured in each precinct and will be open for one day from 6 a. m. to 8 p. m. Each room will be in charge of an inspector, appointed by the county commissioners and two clerks, one each appointed by the chairmen of the two dominating political parties and each member of the board will receive $4 a day for his services.

The expense includes the pay of the board, rent of the room and the meals furnished the board.

To Elect Superintendent.

The township trustees of the county will hold a meeting at Brownstown Monday for the election of a county superintendent of Schools. Though the names of several others have been mentioned, it is thought probable that Supt. J. E. Payne who has held the office the past fourteen years, will be reelected.

Union Memorial.

The Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Modern Woodmen, Order of Elks, Eagles and Red Men will start from the corner of Second and Chestnut streets at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon to march to Riverview where the union memorial services will be held. John M. Lewis will speak.

Union Memorial.

All members of the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Woodmen, Elks, Eagles and Red Men, will meet at their respective halls at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon to attend the Union Memorial service. Committee. j3d

Eastern Star.

Ten candidates were taken into the chapter of Eastern Star last night. A number of visitors were present from Brownstown, Crothersville and Cincinnati. After the work a banquet was served and a social hour enjoyed.

MET DEATH IN MINING CAMP

Thurman Ross Shot, the Tragedy
Occurring Near Kingdon, Arizona,
This Week.

THE PARTICULARS NOT KNOWN

The Body Sent Here For Burial.—
Deceased Was a Son of Frank
Ross.

Thurman Ross, son of Frank Ross, who lives west of Seymour, met death near Kingdon, Arizona, this week and the body will arrive here Sunday or Monday.

No particulars regarding his death are known here excepting that he was shot. Two messages were received by the father from Kingdon, the first stating that his son was dying. The second message received a few hours later stated that the young man was dead.

A member of the family expressed the belief today that probably the full particulars will never be known as the young man was working in a rough country and among a rough lot of people. Efforts, however, will be made later to secure the particulars and it is hoped that a letter will be received, giving them.

The deceased was about thirty-five years old and unmarried. He went to the southwest two or three years ago and has recently been working as foreman of a gang of ore haulers in a mining camp near Kingdon.

His father is a well known farmer and one of the highly respected citizens of the community. A brother, Winford Ross lives in Seymour and drives a dray for Peter Forway.

MUNDALL CHURCH REBUILT

Surprise For Pastor, Rev. L. A. Winn of Seymour.

The Mundall Christian Church in the eastern part of Lawrence county recently gave their pastor, Rev. L. A. Winn, of Seymour a surprise. Without mentioning the matter to him the church building was greatly improved by the members. Fourteen feet was added to the length and the building was practically made new.

The membership has greatly increased and the church now claims the largest Sunday School attendance of any country church in Lawrence county. Rev. Mr. Winn holds regular monthly meetings at the church.

METHODIST CHURCH

At Crothersville Will be Improved
This Summer.

The Methodist church at Crothersville is to be greatly improved this summer. A basement is to be constructed, a furnace installed, and inclined floor to be put in and the church to be repapered and repainted. The improvements will cost about $900. The work will begin at once. While the improvements are being made the congregation will hold services in the school house.

BURGLAR ENTERED A PLEA OF GUILTY

Burglar Who Was Captured By Firemen Here, Will Go to Prison.

FROM ONE TO EIGHT YEARS

Perry Coleman Placed On Trial Today.—Dye, a State Witness, Missing.

Joe McBride, known as "Skeeter" McBride, was brought into circuit court at Brownstown this morning and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of petit larceny. He was sentenced to state prison for a term of from one to eight years.

He is the burglar who was captured in Seymour recently by members of the fire department after he had robbed Teckemeyer's grocery and the Russel meat market. When first arrested he gave his name as Charles Wagner and his home as Dayton, Ohio. Later, however, he was identified as McBride, his home being at Bedford. He had a bad reputation in Lawrence county and at the time the robbery here was committed he was under indictment for robbing a bakery at Bedford and was out on bond. As the result of information furnished by him Charles Lens, of Loogootee, was arrested charged with the robbery of C. R. Hoffman's store and the officers are looking for "Dirty" McQueen, of Mitchell, who, McBride says, was with him the night of the robbery here.

When McBride was arrested a charge of burglary was placed against him but later it was changed to petit larceny.

Lens was arraigned Friday evening but entered a plea of not guilty and he will probably not be tried before next term.

Perry Coleman, colored, and Tip Franklin, who were arrested here this week, charged with robbing Willie Dye, a showman, were brought into court today and the demand for separate trials was made by them.

Coleman was then placed on trial and evidence is being heard this afternoon.

Dye, the complaining witness, disappeared this morning and the officers have been unable to find him. After the trouble here he lost his job with the show company.

TRIAL AT NOBLESVILLE

Jackson County Man Defendant in Law Suit.

The case of John Bennet vs Andrew J. Summa of this county, was set for trial at Noblesville today. John Branaman and D. A. Kochenour of Brownstown are attending the trial, the former appearing for the plaintiff and Kochenour for the defendant. About a year ago Summa traded eighty acres of land near Medora to Bennet for a number of lots in Millersburg, Hamilton county. Bennet now seeks to set aside the trade.

James Brown, of Louisville, who formerly lived here, has been promoted to passenger conductor on the Pennsylvania to succeed the late William Buck.

DONALDSON CASE

The Fight for Possession of Valuable
Farm On Again.

The fight for the Donaldson farm near Mitchell still goes on. The Bedford Mail says:

Argument in the case of the State on the relation of Thomas Honan, Attorney General, against James Donaldson and others, on trial today in the Lawrence circuit court, has been continued until next week in the Monroe circuit court.

The case has been in the courts for eleven years, and the end is not yet in sight. It is a fight by the Indiana University to retain possession of the Donaldson land near Mitchell. The school was given the land several years ago following a decision holding that the alien heirs of Donaldson, who was also an alien, could not inherit the property.

The Supreme Court, however, later reversed the decision and in the meanwhile John Stout, a Paoli banker purchased the property from the heirs and is now making the fight against the university.

Enveloped in Blue Flame.

Behind the dark storm clouds that swept over Crothersville Tuesday evening the lucky star of Miss Mollie Dismore must have been shining. During the terrific electrical and rain storm Miss Dismore was attending to her duties in the interurban station, when suddenly there was a crash and instantly she was enveloped in a blue flame. Her brother, James Dismore, and several other persons, were in the station at the time, and they are still marveling at her miraculous escape from death at the hands of the silent messenger. Evidently a wire had been struck on the outside, the deadly current following it into the station. The chandelier was destroyed. Miss Dismore was dazed for some time, and as she regained consciousness, started to flee from the spot. She and the others in the station went to the freight shed where they remained until the storm was over.—Crothersville Herald.

AMOS BUTLER
GAVE ADDRESS

Secretary of State Board of Charities
Spoke at Library Friday Evening.

CARE OF NEGLECTED CHILDREN

And Duty of the Court and County
Boards Was the Subject of His Address.

Amos Butler, of Indianapolis, secretary of the State Board of Charities, was in Seymour Friday evening and addressed a meeting held at the library.

The recently appointed members of the county Board of Children's Guardians and Board of Charities and others interested in the work of the two boards were present at the meeting which was presided over by Judge Shea.

Mr. Butler explained the laws for the care of children by the state and by the county and gave many suggestions for the benefit of the county boards in carrying on their work.

It is the duty of the court and boards to care for dependent and neglected children and see that children are removed from houses where there is continued drunkenness and immorality and to find them good homes. Where children are neglected or are incorrigible it is the policy not to remove them to state institutions if possible to obtain good homes for them where they will have proper home influences. This policy has resulted in a decrease in the number of inmates in state institutions for children. It is also considered best to find houses for children in the counties in which they reside.

He believed that where a complaint is filed that before removing a child from a home the members of the boards and court should make a thorough investigation to determine if it is possible to influence the parents to remedy the conditions complained of.

The judge and members were urged to work together. He believed it was also a good plan to secure a county organization of teachers and officers to cooperate with the boards in carrying on the work of providing for neglected children and improving their conditions.

Attention was called to the fact that Jackson county is entitled to the use of a bed in the tuberculosis hospital and that this privilege it not at present being taken advantage of. He thought that if there is some child or young person in the county who is in the early stages of consumption, arrangements should be made to send the afflicted one to this hospital.

Mr. Butler's address was practical and interesting and was profitable to the members of the board at the beginning of their work.

Heart to Heart
Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

HOW HE DIED.

Speaking of heroes—
Note how John Grady of Nanticoke, Pa., died.

He passed away singing in a weak and faltering voice "The Top of the Morning."

Nor was he intoxicated nor beside himself. He was sober and in his right mind. That a dying man should sing the old Irish melody instead of a religious hymn seems strange. But—

Grady was an electrical worker, and one day he was carried into the presence of his mother with one leg and both arms literally burned off by a current. In his pitiful plight he suffered agonies beyond description.

But when he saw his mother he forgot his pain.

You see, mothers are just bound up in their boys. It is the way of them that when a son suffers pain in their presence they suffer as keenly as he does.

John Grady knew that.

And so, crushing back the pain that was taking his life, he called out to his mother to say that he was not badly hurt. "There is no cause for alarm, mavourneen," said John Grady to his little old Irish mother. And then—

Seeing the look of maternal anguish, he thought of his mother's favorite song. She had sung it to him in his cradle. Often they had sung it together.

To prove to her that there was no reason to be concerned about him he started to sing the old melody.

Trivial? Under ordinary circumstances trivial, but now it was the outburst of the holiest impulse a boy can know. Surely the angels in heaven must have heard and changed that roistering song into a psalm of praise.

The song faded—ceased.

Somehow Grady's voice would break in spite of him; the brave lips twitched; the light died out of the boy's blue eyes.

Well? How better could a boy die?

It is not so hard to be a hero when the elbow of your comrade touches yours and the flag snaps over your head in the thrill of a charge, or when the crowd cheers you up the ladder to save the child from a burning building, or to go down with your ship in the sight of the rescued, firing your farewell salute.

Because you throw into the uncertain breach all the vigor of a strong manhood. But—

When tissue burns in awful agony, when your heart is failing, when your breath comes pitifully—that's different.

SPANISH JESUITS
COMING TO AMERICA.

Expelled From Land of Their Origin,
Will Take Home in Maryland.

The Jesuits, that famous order of Catholic priests, are making preparations to leave Spain in anticipation of action by the government of that country which will mean their banishment from the land of their origin, just as they have been banished from Germany, Mexico and Portugal. Two distinguished members of the Spanish province of Castile are now in this country and recently made a thorough investigation of the Jesuit house of studies at Woodstock, Md., with a view of using the buildings as the headquarters of that province when the removal becomes necessary.

These priests are Rev. Father Bianchi, the provincial, and his secretary, Father Gomez. It is known that they were heartily pleased with the buildings and healthy situation of the college at Woodstock and have made up their minds that when the government of King Alfonso, who, by the way, was educated by a Jesuit tutor, finds it necessary to expel the order from the land in which it originated refuge will be sought in this country and the work of the province will be carried on from here.

Expelling the Jesuits from a country is one thing, getting rid of them another, as the governments of Germany and Mexico have learned after many years. Statistics show that there are just as many Jesuits in Germany as ever, and in Mexico Diaz has so much relented from his original edict of expulsion that he now countenances them openly. His change of front toward the order has been due to the influence of his wife, who is an ardent Catholic and friend of the Jesuits. The result has been that when Diaz as a matter of form decided to raid any particular house of the Jesuits in Mexico private word was sent to them in time for them to substitute lay teachers, and these were retained until after the investigation was completed.

SATURDAY NIGHT
SERMONS

BY
REV. SAMUEL
W. PURVIS, D.D.

THE GETTYSBURG OF YOUR LIFE.

Text, "They be many that fight against me."—Psalm lvi, 2.

Doesn't seem forty-eight years since Gettysburg. Not many under sixty have an adequate remembrance of it. You're nearly a half century older, comrade. And you, my lady—well, I've seen your daguerreotype taken in the sixties. I don't wonder a certain young officer narrowly escaped court martial for over staying his furlough. And he nearly missed Gettysburg by it, too. To have missed the girl and the battle would have been a calamity. And that was a battle! In all the centuries with their innumerable wars there have been few great decisive battles. Creasy names only fifteen between Marathon and Waterloo. Gettysburg was fought since, but none greater or more decisive before or after. This is hallowed ground. Ever been to Gettysburg? I wish you could before you are a year older. To see its 600 monuments and tablets, visit Cemetery hill, Round Top, Little Round Top, Culp's hill, cross that mile wide plain over which from Seminary ridge thundered Pickett's awful charge. Walk through the devil's den, the peach orchard and the wheat-field. If your heart doesn't swell almost to bursting, if your nerves do not thrill almost to exaltation, if you do not say to your guide, "I must walk or suffocate," then I do not know the youth of our generation.

Life a Warfare.

I have recently been over the ground "just once more." It is changed where shot and shell crashed through forest then—the birds are now building their nests. The drumbeat is hushed, the bugle peal has died away, the hosts that endured hunger, thirst, weary marches, charged up mountain sides, faced death in camp and field and filled the world with their glory are passing away. The blue and the gray lie together in death. The green corn of spring is now breaking through their commingled dust. The dew from heaven falls upon their union in the grave. From the battlements of peace in the clearer light of the spirit world they surely say, "It is well." So shall we. But, brother, all life is a warfare. There is the tumult of perpetual conflict; every year its campaign, every day its battle. Enemies without, within. Those without cannot harm us much. No man who does his duty will escape enemies. If you make them through your meanness, selfishness, unkindness, then feel ashamed and right the wrong. The battle without is a fierce one—sickness, trouble, disgrace. Even the wolf has snuffed at your door. It has been a hard fight with enemies without.

The Greatest Battlefield.

The greatest battlefield on which a man ever fought is within himself. The greatest defeats are there and the mightiest victories. Victory on the field of one's own heart means victory elsewhere. The greatest mastery is self mastery. Every true man, every true woman recognizes this. Sin first stole our self mastery away. It must be charged and flanked and gripped. What the particular enemy is each individual knows, openly or secretly. What is it, O woman—backbiting, gossip, mischief making, selfishness? You, O man, blasphemy, temper, appetite, passion? Have you gone down to defeat again and again? Seen your colors drag at the very time you should have been most easily the triumphant victor? That's good. Then you know the weak point on your line. That's where the hottest conflict is to be fought. There's the key to the whole situation. You'll have to mass your batteries there. Temptation to dishonesty? Fight it. "Are these goods all wool?" said a Denver woman to a little shopkeeper. "They were, madam, before the revival at our church. They are not now." Uncleanliness, cowardice and discouragement are the soldier's weakest points. Find out that point and defend it with all your strength. Victory consists in holding on a moment longer.

Your Gettysburg.

How have your campaigns gone? Very unsatisfactory? Then you are at a good place to listen. Now comes the crisis. The conflicts are coming thicker and faster. Now you must fight the battle of your life. All before have been only skirmishes. This is the crux of the whole warfare—you will now have to decide in this life's warfare whether you will be a Christian in the fight or not. You will fight three enemies at one time—the world, the flesh, the devil. You have come to your Gettysburg! This is the engagement that decides your war. You've had other battles before, you'll have others again, but this determines whether you will be final victor or not. Christ's Gettysburg was in the wilderness, Luther's at Worms, Wesley's at Oxford, Daniel's in Babylon, yours is here and now. The emphatic date in human history is today. Yesterday is gone forever. Tomorrow may never come, and when it does it will be engaged with conflicts of its own. Happy the man who seizes this strategic moment. Attention! Count off to the right! Roll the drum! Sound the bugle! Forward! Now is the "bloody angle." Victory here means forever. Today is the Gettysburg of your life. Will you or your soul's enemy surrender at the Appomattox of death?

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Jack McInnis, Connie Mack's
Latest Wonder.

Jack McInnis of the Philadelphia Athletics is not old enough to vote, but he is the best substitute infielder in the country. "Stuffy," as his teammates call him, first saw the light of day in Gloucester, Mass., in October, 1890. He joined the Athletics in the spring of 1909, having made a name for himself as a member of the Gloucester high school nine and the Haverhill New England league team. Mack started him in as a regular, but he soon yielded the shortstop position to Jack Barry. McInnis got back into the game regularly several weeks ago when Barry was injured and has been hitting at a .500 clip ever since. He is making two or more hits daily, and as a rule one of them is a triple. At the rate the little fellow is going now it is doubtful that Barry will be able to get back his old position as a member of the Mack stone wall infield. McInnis is the sensation of the American league season.

Bull Terrier Helps to Win Game.

At South Bend, Ind., where the Wheeling and South Bend teams of the Central league were playing recently, a Boston bull terrier won the game for Wheeling by a score of 4 to 3. In the ninth inning Crane of Wheeling drove the ball into the outfield, and the terrier chased the ball, grabbing it in his mouth and scampering away from the outfielders, hot in pursuit. Before an outfielder could overtake the canine and pick the ball from its teeth Crane had gained an additional base and later scored with the winning run.

Hawaii Swimming Tourney.

A team of Hawaiian swimmers are coming to the United States in July—that is, if they are satisfied they are good enough to have a chance with the Americans. For the purpose of finding out the real merit of the Hawaiians an aquatic meet is to be held at Honolulu on June 11. This is to be a record meet, and if the records are at all respectable the men will be sent to the Pacific coast.

Doyle Making Good.

Jimmy Doyle, the Cubs' new third baseman, is fast winning his spurs. He has batted in many runs at critical stages since he went to the far corner, and in each contest he shows signs of overcoming the nervousness that laid hold of him before he became thoroughly accustomed to the machine-like work of Chance and Tinker.

Clarke Still Inventing.

Manager Fred Clarke of Pittsburg has invented a rubber device to be placed in front of the regulation pitching slab. The object is to prevent twirlers from digging deep holes. The Pirate leader has patents on several other baseball utensils, including a canvas jacket for the diamond.

New York Promoters Losing Money.

All the big fights in New York recently have been financial losers for the promoters, and three of the clubs in that city have announced that in the future the contestants in the star fights will have to work on the percentage basis, as they will not offer guarantees from now on.

Different Methods of Handling Vets.

What a difference in the passing of two veterans who have given their employers notable service—Sam Lee-veer of Pittsburg is released free to his own inclinations; Harry Steinfeldt of Chicago, protesting, is sold into the minors. Just a difference in methods of magnates.

Why Ed Reulbach Is Wild.

Knowing the weaknesses of the batters too well and trying to pitch to them is the reason Ed Reulbach of the Cubs gives for his wildness this season. Manager Chance has suggested that Reulbach forget the weaknesses and "put the ball over."

Hauser Hitting Ball Hard.

Little Shortstop Hauser of the Cardinals has developed into a .300 hitter. He chokes his bat now and crowds the plate.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Table Rules For Little Folks.

In silence I must take my seat
And give God thanks before I eat.
Must for my food in patience wait
Till I am asked to hand my plate.
I must not scold nor whine nor pout
Nor move my chair or plate about.
With knife or fork or anything
I must not play, nor must I sing.
I must not speak a useless word,
For children should be seen, not heard.
I must not talk about my food
Nor fret if I don't think it good.
I must not say, "The bread is old,
The tea is hot, the coffee's cold."
I must not cry for this or that
Nor murmur if my meat is fat.
My mouth with food I must not crowd
Nor while I'm eating speak aloud.
Must turn my head to cough or sneeze
And when I ask say, "If you please."
The tablecloth I must not soil
Nor with my food my fingers soil.
Must keep my seat when I have done
Nor round the table sport or run.
When told to rise then I must put
My chair away with noiseless foot
And lift my heart to God above
In praise for all his wondrous love.

A Brave Mother Rat.

A cat that lives at one of the police stations in New York city went nosing about in the basement and found a nest full of baby rats. She started in to eat them, but the mother rat came out of the dark and jumped at the intruder. There was a little fight, and then the cat backed out. She went upstairs and got another cat, and the two went down to the basement. It needed more than two cats, though. The rat beat off both her enemies and followed them upstairs and out into the street. Somebody set a dog into the fight, but the dog got tired after he had been bitten a few times, and he gave up the fight, like the cats. The rat was victorious, but she had been hurt so much in the battle that a policeman shot her to put her out of pain, and then the baby rats, of course, had to be drowned.

The Bluebird.

There is an old Indian legend that the bluebird was a piece of the sky which came down to live on earth. It surely looks as if this were true, for his head, back, wings and tail have the lovely blue color of the spring sky on a sunny day. Though he is now really a bird of the earth, the bluebird seems to enjoy getting back as near the sky as he can, and we often hear his call come floating down when he is so far above as to be out of sight.

The bluebird is not entirely blue. Indeed, he is said to be the most patriotic of birds, for his colors are red, white and blue. With the blue above and with a red breast and white underneath, the little fellow surely seems to be doing his best to display our nation's colors. The soft warble of the bluebird is one of the most delightful signs of spring.

Glass Sandpaper.

"There is no sand in sandpaper," said the manufacturer. "It is a powdered glass that does the business. That's where the broken bottles go." He nodded toward a pile of broken bottles in the yard. "We powder the glass into half a dozen different grades," he said. "We coat our paper with an even layer of hot glue. Then, without loss of time, we spread over the glass powder. Finally we run a wooden roller lightly over the sheets to give them a good surface. When, in the past, sandpaper was made of sand it wouldn't do a quarter of the work glass paper does."

Conundrums.

Why is a baby like wheat? Because it is first cradled, then thrashed and finally becomes the flower of the family.

What is that which is sometimes with a head, without a head, with a tail and without a tail? A wig.

When are tailors and house agents both in the same business? When they gather the rents.

Why are the tallest people the laziest? Because they are always longer in bed than others.

What class of women are apt to give tone to society? The belles (bells).

The French Scholars.

According to a recent college professor, three French boys were studying "Hamlet," and their task was to render the soliloquy "To be or not to be" from French into English.

This is what the professor read on the three respective papers:

"To was or not to am."

"To were or is to not."

"To should or not to will."

Now you, my friends who study French, can say to them "It serves you right."

About the Sloth.

A sloth will feed on the leaves, buds and young shoots of a single tree without once descending from the branches so long as food lasts, though sometimes it will pass from one tree to another if it can do so without going to the ground. Instead of walking on the branches it swings beneath them with its back downward. Its coarse, shaggy hair looks like grass withered in the sun and gives it such an appearance that it cannot be readily seen except when in motion.

The Civil War.

The dates officially recognized as the beginning and the end of the civil war are Jan. 9, 1861, when the United States steamship Star of the West was fired on by state troops in Charleston harbor, and April 3, 1865, when the president proclaimed the rebellion at an end.

ENTHUSIAST

Mrs. Lena Gresham, of Clinton, Miss., Has a Few Facts to Tell Our Readers About Cardui.

Clinton, Miss.—"Thanks to Cardui," writes Mrs. Lena Gresham, of this place, "I have been greatly relieved."

"I suffered for three years from female inflammation, and had taken medicine from four different physicians without much benefit."

"I have received more benefit from seven bottles of Cardui, than from all the physicians."

Just try Cardui. That's all we ask. It speaks for itself. It has helped so many thousands, it must be able to help you.

Trying Cardui won't hurt you. It is safe, harmless, gentle in action, and purely vegetable.

If you are weak, tired, down and out, try Cardui.

If you are sick, miserable, and suffer from womanly pains, like headache, backache, dragging feelings; pains in side, arms, legs, etc.—try Cardui.

It is the medicine for all women. It is the tonic for you.

KAHN'S PLAN FOR MAKING A MAN

French Philanthropist's Method to Be Adopted In This Country.

AN INTERESTING "FOUNDATION"

Offered $2,500 as a Sort of Traveling Fellowship—Must Travel a Year Around the World—His Impressions to Be Published.

Among the many interesting "foundations" in this country and abroad, that of Albert Kahn of Paris is at least novel and might be called a plan for the making of a man. Mr. Kahn has in past years established such foundations in France, Germany, Japan, England and other countries, and now the United States is to benefit by a similar act. A sum of money, about $2,500, is offered in this country as a sort of traveling fellowship for some citizen of the country whose natural qualifications as a scholar or investigator shall commend him to the trustees of the fund.

Selection of the fellow will be made by the trustees, who are Edward D. Adams, Nicholas Murray Butler, Charles W. Elliot, Henry Fairfield Osborn and Charles D. Walcott, and they are to choose preferably professors in isolated southern and western institutions. The reason for this limitation is that the men in the larger cities have ample opportunity because of their residences for coming into contact with the larger things of the world and are much better equipped for advancement. It is known that in the smaller institutions of learning there are men of advanced thought, of great capabilities and fine intellect who have no opportunity to come into contact with the great world and are therefore wasted. They are occasionally heard from in the world of art or letters, but never succeed in rising above their surroundings. It is to remedy this that the foundation has been established.

Trustees Will Select.

The trustees will select the fellow after careful investigation and will choose a man who is known among the educators of his neighborhood as having shown marked ability and promise in education, who has shown ability to enter into the spirit of such a fellowship and a likelihood of considering his work as a preparation for the performance of higher duties in the institution and education of the youth of his country rather than a vacation of a year with sufficient money to enjoy himself. The object of the foundation is really to select a man who shall be sent over the world to obtain the broadening influence of traveling in (to him) unknown lands and on his return give to his students the benefit of his travels.

There are no restrictions upon him in this journey except that his itinerary must be approved by the trustees and that his travel must be preferably in Europe, Egypt, India, China, Japan and Ceylon. It is also preferred by the trustees that the incumbent of the fellowship shall travel around the world, involving his absence from America for at least a year. After his itinerary is approved by the trustees he may begin his journey, taking his own time to visit the countries, and at the conclusion of his travels must submit a report giving results and impressions, which may be published. While it is likely that the man may be selected from some college or university, it is not necessary that such should be the case.

WOMEN LONGER LIVED.

Men Die Earlier and More Unexpectedly, Declares Investigator.

Women live longer than men, according to statistics on the comparative longevity of men and women prepared by Dr. A. H. Stewart of Lawton, Okla. The investigator finds that according to the census returns there are 4,000 centenarians in this country, of whom 2,500 are women.

Dr. Stewart further declares that women require less oxygen than men, endure more heat, stand more rarefied air, suffer less from anaesthetics and also "are more likely to survive hanging."

Men die unexpectedly more often than do women, and men suffer from baldness more frequently. It is also found that there are more variations from the normal among men than among women, but geniuses, including mathematical prodigies, are more frequent among men. On the other hand, idiots and cranks are less frequent among women.

Chinese Studying Geography. President Tso Chiu Lai of the Wai-wu, noticing that the negligence of duty in the performance of diplomatic affairs by the various Chinese officials is caused by their ignorance of the science of the earth, thereby causing complications in settling the boundary question, has given instructions to the various subordinates that they should study geography and a bureau for investigating the science of the earth should be established. The boundaries of the border of the northwestern portion of the three eastern provinces should be first investigated and preparation made to answer the boundary question with the power concerned.

GUARD LIVES OF MEN IN MINES

Expert Tells of Failure to Appreciate Seriousness of Fire.

PROTECTION NOT ADEQUATE.

Loss of Hundreds of Lives and Destruction of Millions of Dollars' Worth of Property Might Have Been Prevented.

Failure to appreciate the seriousness of mine fires and a lack of adequate fire protection have resulted in the loss of hundreds of lives and the destruction of millions of dollars' worth of property in the last few years, according to Herbert M. Wilson, chief engineer of the federal bureau of mines. Mr. Wilson declared that two of the most serious disasters in coal mines in the last two years—one at Cherry, Ill., in which 262 lives were lost, and the other at the Pancoast mine, near Scranton, Pa., in which seventy-four lives were lost—originated from trivial causes and ought to have been quickly extinguished without the sacrifice of human life.

"The contact of several bales of hay with a blazing torch or an open miner's lamp," said Mr. Wilson, "caused the Cherry mine disaster, with its great loss of life and a total cost of $1,000,000, of which $50,000 a day was spent in direct fire fighting for several days.

Some Mine Fires.

"The fire in the Pancoast mine killed 74 miners and left 45 widows and 137 dependent orphans. This fire is known to have started in an underground room presumably from some oil soaked waste. It was not thought serious until it had been burning two hours, and this delay was in large measure responsible for the great loss of life.

"Besides the loss of life, fires have cost much in money. At Deadwood, S. D., $1,000,000 has been spent in fighting a fire in a metal mine. Today fires are raging in coal and metal mines in various parts of the country. Some of them have got beyond control and have been burning for many years, devouring hundreds of thousands of tons of coal and miles of mine galleries. One mine fire near Carbondale, Pa., has burned out such a vast area of anthracite coal in the last ten years as to result in a subsidence of the surface and destruction of surface property. Near Summit Hill, Pa., a fire which has been burning fifty-one years is estimated to have destroyed $25,000,000 worth of coal. Near Jobs, O., a tract of coal valued at several million dollars has been burning since 1884. In some of the deeper metal mines at Butte, Mont., fires have been burning in the old mine timbers since 1889. In the Comstock vein, in Nevada, thousands of feet of tunnels which had been opened and timbered at great expense are being burned out.

Use of Oxygen Helmet.

"The mining engineers of the bureau of mines have made a careful study of fires in mines and have reached the conclusion that the introduction of comparatively inexpensive fire fighting appliances, the adoption of proper regulations and the institution of a reasonable system of fire drills may minimize fires and confine others to a brief period of time with little damage to life and property. The engineers of this bureau have had much success in combating mine fires by the use of the oxygen helmet. This is an apparatus that entirely protects the head and through which air is furnished artificially, thus enabling the wearer to explore the vicinity of a fire under conditions of smoke and gas that would render his approach otherwise impossible. By the use of such an apparatus a number of fires have been promptly extinguished which would doubtless have spread and perhaps extended beyond control. Chemistry through the quick analysis of gases at frequent intervals in the neighborhood of the fire has proved a most useful adjunct in fighting fires.

"It seems almost unnecessary to call attention to the necessity of providing at each mine ample storage of water properly conveyed in protected pipes to possible danger points, the desirability of using larger amounts of fireproof material in place of wooden mine timbers or wooden doors, the proper disposal of waste, fireproof manways and air shafts and the use of fireproof material as far as possible in all surface structures within 50 to 100 feet of the main opening to the mine."

UNIQUE ORIENTAL RUG.

Weaving Will Take Years—For New York Public Library.

In the directors' room of the New York Public Library will be placed a rug which in some respects is the most interesting oriental rug ever woven. Its design was first put on canvas in oils in full colors. The painting took more than a month, and the design alone is valued in the neighborhood of $1,000, making it the most expensive design ever followed in the weaving of an oriental rug. The rug will be 25 by 35 feet, and it will take years for the able fingers of the oriental weavers to complete it, so delivery cannot be made for a long time. It is being woven in Sivas, Turkey.

Henry L. Stimson, New Secretary of War.

© 1911, by American Press Association.

Henry Lewis Stimson, who succeeds Jacob M. Dickinson as secretary of war, was the unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor of New York last fall. Since his defeat he has been engaged in the practice of law. From 1906 to 1909 he was United States attorney for the southern district of New York and attracted wide attention through his conduct of that office.

After Mr. Stimson quit the district attorneyship he was named as special counsel for the government in the prosecution of the sugar trust, and he succeeded in causing that institution to pay into the national treasury more than $2,000,000. Other prosecutions against the Arbuckles and against railroads for violations of the rebate law and similar actions brought a return of more than $2,000,000 to the government. He also prosecuted the case against Charles W. Morse.

The new war secretary is forty-four years old. He fitted for college and went to Yale, graduating in 1888. Then he took his law degree at Harvard and in 1891 entered the office of Elihu Root. At the end of two years he was made a partner in the firm. He is a close friend of Theodore Roosevelt and Gifford Pinchot.

Born of Fighting Stock.

Colonel Giuseppe Garibaldi, who fought so valiantly for the Maderists at Juarez and who received the sword of General Navarro, comes from a family renowned for its fighting blood. He is a descendant of the great Italian leader who fought for liberty in many lands. The first and greatest Giuseppe Garibaldi aided the rebels of Rio Grande do Sul against Brazil. In winning freedom for Uruguay he developed the famous Italian legion, which always afterward furnished him as the core of every command with a group of seasoned warriors, hard as nails and pugnacious as bull terriers.

GIUSEPPE GARIBOLDI.

Colonel Garibaldi, has been marked in the insurrecto army since the capture of Juarez. Francisco Villa, the former bandit, who is now a colonel in the insurrecto army, and Garibaldi had a clash three days before the battle of Juarez. Since that day Villa's hatred has grown. He helped to work up the anger of Orozco that led to the clash with Madero. Garibaldi at that time stood beside Madero and had members of his legion present ready to fight for the revolutionary leader if necessary. After that incident such threats were made against him that he was advised to cross the bridge to El Paso. Then Villa followed him there with the intention, it is said, of killing the Italian officer, but was disarmed by United States secret service men and sent back to Mexico.

SOON BE WET.

Laws Rapidly Bringing About Purpose For Which Passed.

That the liquor laws passed by the last legislature under the direction of the brewers who controlled that body, for the purpose of making the county seat towns wet and so giving a market in every section for the brewers' goods, are accomplishing the purpose rapidly is shown by the following statistics compiled by the Bloomington Star, a Wet organ:

"There are 100 incorporated cities in Indiana. Of these 25 belong to the first, second, third and fourth class, all of which are 'wet.' There are 75 cities of the fifth class, and they stand as follows:

Cities voting dry in 1911: Bedford, Crawfordsville, Delphi, Frankfort, Gas City, Greencastle, Mitchell, Monticello, Noblesville, Portland, Sullivan, Tipton, Veederburg, Warsaw—14.

Cities still 'dry' under the two-year limit of 1909: Angola, Auburn, Bluffton, Brazil, Butler, Franklin, Garrett, Lebanon, Madison, Winchester—10.

Cities of fifth class that have always been wet, and never voted: Aurora, Batesville, Cannelton, Huntingburg, Lawrenceburg, Mishawaka, Rising Sun, Rockport, Tell City, Whiting—10.

Cities voting dry in 1909 and became wet in 1911 without opposition: Alexandria, Boonville, Columbus, Elwood, Linton, Logansport, Mt. Vernon, North Vernon, Peru, Rensselaer, Shelbyville, Rochester, Seymour—13.

Cities voting dry in 1909 and wet in 1911: Attica, Clinton, Columbia City, Connersville, Covington, Decatur, Dunkirk, Greenfield, Greensburg, Goshen, Hartford City, Huntington, Kendallville, Laporte, Ligonier, Martinsville, Montpelier, Newcastle, Plymouth, Princeton, Rushville, Union City, Valparaiso, Vevay, Wabash, Washington, Bloomington—27.

Of the eleven cities yet to vote this year only two or three of them will vote 'dry.'

There is only one dry town in the State of Indiana today that exceeds Bloomington in population—Crawfordsville.

Bedford, Frankfort and Crawfordsville are the only three towns in Indiana above 5,000 population that are dry today."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Oo.

DARED COURT TO DO ITS "WORST"

Judge Anderson Took Offender At His Word.

GAVE PRISONER THE MAXIMUM

When William Linneger, an Indianapolis "Old Timer," Boldly Blurted Out, "You Fellers Do Your Worst," When Addressing the Court, Judge Anderson Took Him at His Word and He Will Sojourn at Leavenworth.

Indianapolis, June 3.—William Linneger of this city, counterfeiter and burglar, an "old-timer" at the game, received a sentence of ten years at Leavenworth after daring Judge Anderson in federal court to "do his worst." Judge Anderson expressed this as the "best" he could do.

Linneger was on trial on the charge of passing counterfeit dollars and having counterfeit money in his possession. When on the witness stand, District Attorney Miller asked him how many times he had previously been convicted in counterfeiting cases.

"None of your business," said Linneger.

Judge Anderson directed the witness to answer.

"I won't," said Linneger; "you fellers do your worst."

"I think I can handle this case all right at the proper time," said the federal judge, dryly.

The jury at the conclusion of the evidence promptly returned a verdict of guilty.

"You told me to do the worst, didn't you?" asked the judge of the convicted man.

"I didn't mean it this way, though," said Linneger. "I meant that question didn't have anything to do with the case."

"How long do you think it would take you to serve ten years at Leavenworth?" asked the judge.

"Now see here, judge, that ain't right. You ain't got no business sending me up for ten years," was the remonstrance Linneger put in.

Judge Anderson, however, summarized Linneger's record and pronounced the maximum sentence.

Linneger, who is fifty-seven years old, has served two terms for counterfeiting and one term for burglary. Not only was he "caught with the goods" in this city, but it was shown he had been trying to induce others to help him get rid of spurious coin.

CHESTERFIELD "WET"

Official Count Alters Supposed Tie Vote in Option Election.

Anderson, Ind., June 3.—The official canvass of the vote in the option elections in four townships of Madison county on Wednesday last determined that Union township, containing the town of Chesterfield, is "wet" by a majority of one. The township election board reported a tie vote of 116 each for "drys" and "wets," and also reported seven ballots thrown out. The official canvassing board included the ballots on which the township board was doubtful and fixed the result of the election at 119 "wet" and 118 "dry."

STUDENTS ARRAIGNED

Charged With Illegal Voting in Bloomington Option Election.

Bloomington, Ind., June 3.—The twenty-eight Indiana university students charged with casting illegal votes in the local option election Wednesday entered pleas of not guilty. By agreement the case against Earl Stoupe of Schererville is to be used Monday as a test case, and in the trial before Justice Robertson, J. M. La Follette of the university will assist in defending the students. It is understood that if there is a conviction in this case the cases of the other twenty-seven will be taken up separately.

FATALLY STUNG

Farmhand Sought to Protect Horses From Infuriated Swarm.

Noblesville, Ind., June 3.—Merritt Hadley, employed on a farm near this city, is in a serious condition as a result of having been stung repeatedly by bees. A team he was driving ran away and knocked over two beehives. In attempting to free the horses Hadley attracted the attention of the bees and was stung about the head, shoulders, face and chest. One of the horses was so badly stung that it is expected to die.

Will Broaden the Inquiry.

Indianapolis, June 3.—Prosecutor Baker has determined to broaden the field of grand jury investigation in the dynamite case and on the theory that the crimes originated here, he will inquire into outrages perpetrated in other places in this state and in other states, too. The grand jury will begin a specific investigation next Monday of what are known as the Von Spreckels explosions, that occurred in Indianapolis the night of Oct. 29, 1909.

New American Cardinal.

Rome, June 3.—Owing to the steady increase of Catholics in the United States the pope has decided that America shall in the future be represented by two cardinals in the sacred college.

The red hat probably will be conferred upon Archbishop Patrick W. Riordan of San Francisco. This will give equal prestige to the east and the west.

GOING AFTER MAYOR ON VARIOUS COUNTS

Impeachment of East Chicago's Executive Sought.

Hammond, Ind., June 3.—Impeachment proceedings were filed against Mayor A. G. Schlieker of East Chicago, in the Lake county superior court. The affidavit was signed by Charles Pitzele, who charges that Schlieker refused to prevent gambling; that he permitted resorts to exist; that he permitted the employees of the city to build private roads and driveways for a company of which he is president; that he allowed the teams of the same company to work for the city for pay; that he permitted the buying of coal at $4.50 a ton, when the city had a contract for coal at $1.87 a ton, and when William C. Harding, city street commissioner, was interested in the company; that he drew excessive pay from the city for his services.

A great many of these charges are the result of the grand jury investigation which caused a sensation a month ago and resulted in the indictment of a large number of city officials and others.

Under the law the mayor will be compelled to go to trial in twenty days. Mayor Schlieker's appointee, Albert Lewis, chief of police, was recently impeached.

TAKING NO CHANCES

Gary Police Waiting For Assistance Before Tackling Bandits.

Gary, Ind., June 3.—Hiding in the sand dunes about Gary, where the car bandits resisted assaults of Chicago police for many days, are three fugitives, believed to be criminals from Chicago, who are wanted by the police of that city. Another man, Walter Stevens, who is alleged to have killed William Gentleman, a Chicago labor leader, was captured at Black Oak.

The police of Gary have cut off the escape of the fugitives and are waiting for assistance from Chicago before advancing in what may be a fight similar to that in which Chicago police were killed while attempting to arrest the car bandits.

The dugouts in the sand dunes are so situated that a hundred men can be resisted for days, as was done in November, 1903, when the car bandits hid in them. The three men sought by the police are known to be armed and are now intrenched in these dugouts with surroundings the same as those of the fatal fight several years ago.

These Chickens Came High.

Hammond, Ind., June 3.—Judge Riley of the East Chicago municipal court bulled the price of chickens when he fined Charles Bigg $365 for stealing three hens and a rooster, $125 for the rooster and $80 each for the hens. Bigg was unable to pay his fine and was sent to jail for a year, Judge Riley intimating that his absence from East Chicago for a year would make chickens reasonably safe.

Took Law in His Own Hands.

Portland, Ore., June 3.—Louie Long, a lightweight prize fighter, was killed and Mrs. J. L. Riley shot and perhaps fatally wounded by the woman's husband, J. L. Riley, who found his wife in Long's company.

Man a Working Machine.

Man of today is as near a machine as he probably ever can become, and still exist. To keep him in perfect "running order" he has to be treated as such. Now, if your watch or auto had slipped a cog, or was "clogged up" with foreign matter threatening its very existence unless removed, would you apply acid or dope to rid it of foreign matter or to adjust its parts?

—As With Auto and Watch— so with the human body, it gets out of running order through the process of life and needs repairing. No defective machine can turn out good work. Every day that an "unclean" watch or auto, or any other machine is compelled to run, wears seriously its vital parts and saps its vitality. The longer you try to work while the body machinery is out of gear, the greater will be the damage it suffers. Health depends upon the human machine being kept in good mechanical order. Adjustment of the human body is the particular and special work of —The Spaulhurst Osteopaths—

That they are expert body mechanists, know what to do, and how to correctly fix what is mechanically wrong with the body structure is evidenced by kindly expressions of those who have given their treatment a fair trial. They give a little more satisfaction than is expected and make good every promise. They do not claim to perform miracles. Aid nature to health—that's all. Adjust the human machinery and nature makes the cure.

You are invited to call, consult and learn what ails you without charge. Do it today. Yes, you! It may not be too late. First National Bank Building, Seymour, Phone 557.

ACQUIRES IMPETUSEditors Indorse Governor for President.

Michigan City, Ind., June 3.—Today the members of the Indiana Democratic Editorial association are enjoying the hospitality of Warden Fogarty of the state prison and a lake trip will add to the pleasure of the three-days' outing.

The association adopted resolutions indorsing Governor Marshall for president. The editors declared for Mr. Marshall first, last and all the time, at any hour of the day or night, and they will call on the Democrats to see without fail that only men who will stand for Mr. Marshall are put on the Indiana delegation, and more than that, will demand that Governor Marshall be allowed to select his own delegates, and if he declines to do that, that no delegate be named until Governor Marshall has looked him over and found him all right.

The resolutions praised the work of the Democratic members of the last legislature and especially commended the bill passed by the Democrats providing for a new constitution. The association indorsed the present state administration, declared for reciprocity with Canada and gave praise to United States Senators Shively and Kern and the Democratic members of congress from Indiana.

The committee on resolutions appointed by the association is composed of Ben Louthain of the Logansport Pharos, Ben McKey of the Lebanon Pioneer, and Royal E. Purcell of the Vincennes Sun.

Tipton Taking No Chances on Spread of Rabies.

Tipton, Ind., June 3.—Fear of rabies following the wild run of a dog said by the state board of health to be infected resulted in all of the dogs in the city which were not muzzled being killed, and three patients, John Shupard and his two sons, being taken to Indianapolis for treatment at the expense of the city. It was found that a cow had been bitten and it was killed. A fine Angora goat, the property of Charles Recobis, was declared mad and killed.

WAS BENT ON DESTRUCTION

A Thrilling Tale of Hazard That Was Kept From the Patriot's Ears, the Juarez Police Not Caring to Break In on the Joyousness of the Farewell Reception Being Given to Madero.

El Paso, Tex., June 3.—Without knowing it, Francisco I. Madero had as close a call for his life Thursday night as any time since he embarked in the revolution against Diaz. While the revolutionary leader and his wife stood in the patio of the insurrecto capitol, the Juarez customs house, receiving their guests at their farewell dance and reception, insurrecto police on the outside captured a former Maderite official just as he was rushing to the door of the building with enough dynamite to have blown to eternity the rebel chief and the five or six hundred El Paso and Juarez citizens surrounding him at the time. Madero left on his journey to Mexico City yesterday unaware of the attempt.

The police of Juarez did not divulge the news of the arrest until long after Madero was on his way.

"RED" LOPEZ SHOT

There Are Conflicting Stories of the Manner of His Taking Off.

Cananea, Sonora, June 3.—"Red" Lopez, notorious leader of the faction of revolutionists at Agua Prieta, has been shot. He was being brought to Cananea to serve a sentence of eight years' imprisonment imposed by court martial. He had been imprisoned on the order of Francisco I. Madero, Jr., charged with having "sold out" at Agua Prieta. It was alleged he confessed having received $4,000 for the surrender of Agua Prieta to the federals. His guards tell conflicting stories—one that he tried to escape, another that he asked to be shot rather than be taken to prison.

Dick Ferris, President.

Tia Juana, Lower California, June 3.—Dick Ferris of Los Angeles, theatrical manager, and a candidate for lieutenant governor of California in the election last fall, has been elected president of the republic of Lower California now being formed. The election was held here at the instigation of Louis James, a rebel captain, and 150 rebels voted for Ferris. Ferris says he will get on the job.

The explosion was set off beneath the building. No motive is known.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFESimple Contrivance For Cleaning Knives.

The device for cleaning kitchen knives herewith shown is the invention of a California man. This contrivance consists of a couple of cleaning stones held in juxtaposition in a resilient frame. The frame consists of two inverted V shaped wires with springs connecting the three corners of each. This has the effect of keeping the stones close together all the time, but allowing enough leeway for the admission of a knife blade or the tines of a fork, which can be cleaned by being rubbed up and down a few times. The springs will insure a sufficiently strong pressure to give good frictional action at all times.

Ham and Peppers.

The odds and ends of a boiled ham may be used up in a scallop with green peppers. Mince the ham. Cut the peppers in two, remove the seeds and chop them fine. Then butter a baking pan, put a layer of the ham in the bottom, add a layer of the peppers, sprinkle with fine breadcrumbs, turn in a little beef stock or hot water flavored with beef extract, salt and pepper; put in more ham, peppers, etc., and continue until the dish is full. Sprinkle the top with buttered crumbs, bake covered for about half an hour and then brown the top.

Veal Cutlets With Onion.

Have the bone taken out and the cutlets trimmed carefully. Then sprinkle an onion that has been chopped fine over the bottom of a baking pan, put the meat on it, brush the meat with melted butter, sprinkle over it a little more onion, a cupful of stewed and strained tomatoes, a tablespoonful of minced parsley, salt and pepper and bake in a hot oven for about half an hour. Remove the meat to a hot platter and strain over it the sauce from the pan.

Stewed Sheep's Tongue.

Three sheep's tongues, pepper, salt, one sliced onion and lemon juice. Boil the sheep's tongues till tender and remove the skins; dredge thickly with flour, pepper and salt. Put them into a stewpan with one gill of stock, onion and a few drops of browning and simmer gently for five minutes. To serve, cut each tongue lengthwise. Place on a hot dish. Bring the gravy to the boil, season with pepper and salt and add ten drops of lemon juice and pour over.

Cleaning the Teakettle.

To remove the deposit from the inside of teakettles fill the kettle with water and add to it a dram of sal ammoniac. Let it boil for an hour, when the fur or petrified substance found on the metal will be dissolved and can be easily removed. Rinse the kettle well, then boil out once or twice before using the contents.

Eggs and Tomatoes.

Choose large, smooth tomatoes. Cut off top, but do not remove the skin. Scoop out the inside and break into each tomato an egg. Season, strew with crumbs, put a bit of butter on top of each one and bake for eight or ten minutes in a very hot oven. The pulp may be stewed and used as a gravy, if desired.

Eggs and Sausage.

For an appetizing little supper dish cover the bottom of a baking dish with stewed and strained tomatoes and over them drop poached eggs. Put slices of cooked sausages or tiny sausages in the spaces between the eggs, bits of butter on the eggs and heat thoroughly in the oven.

Filler For Floor Cracks.

An easily made, cheap and satisfactory crack filler for floors can be made as follows: Dissolve one pound of ordinary glue in a pint of boiling water. To this add enough fine sawdust to make it of a consistency to spread well. This is one of the best fillers to use before varnishing floors.

Brass Curtain Rings

An easy way to clean pins and rings that have become black with use is to put them into a bowl with hot water and vinegar, two parts vinegar to one of water. Let them stand for a few hours and then rub on a coarse cloth, and they will look like new.

Stuffed Dates.

Dates stuffed with walnuts and then dipped in melted chocolate make a delicious bonbon. Among a saucerful of such dates have, for variety's sake, a few that are stuffed with raisins and dipped also in chocolate.

PRACTICAL AND SENSIBLE PLAN.

Design 932, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

This house has a practical appeal. A large living room across the front part of the house increases the beauty and apparent size of the whole interior. The first story is finished in red oak or birch if desired and the second story in pine to enamel, with birch floors on both. There is a full seven foot basement. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $3,050.

By special arrangement with me the editor of this paper will furnish one complete set of plans and specifications of design No. 932 for $25.

CHAPTER XXVI

"WERE HER HANDS CROSSED THEN?"

WHEN I left the courtroom with the other witnesses I noticed a man standing near the district attorney. Afterward I heard that he was Sweetwater, the detective from New York who had had so much to do in unearthing the testimony against Arthur.

I left him talking to Mr. Fox and later received this account of the interview which followed between them and Dr. Perry.

"Is this girl telling the truth?" asked District Attorney Fox as soon as the three were closeted and each could speak his own mind. "Doctor, what do you think?"

"I do not question her veracity in the least."

"You believe that she burned herself intentionally?"

"I wouldn't disbelieve it—you may think me sentimental; I knew and loved her father—for any fortune you might name."

Mr. Fox turned to Sweetwater. "And you?"

"Mr. Fox, have you those tongs?"

"Yes, I forgot. They were brought to my office with the other exhibits. I attached no importance to them, and you will probably find them just where I thrust them into the box marked 'Cumb.'"

They were in the district attorney's office, and Sweetwater at once rose and brought forward the tongs.

"There is my answer," he said, pointing significantly at one of the legs.

The district attorney turned pale and motioned Sweetwater to carry them back. He sat silent for a moment and then showed that he was a man.

"Miss Cumberland has my respect," said he.

Finally Mr. Fox turned to Dr. Perry and put the question:

"You are satisfied with your autopsy? Miss Cumberland's death was due to strangulation and not to the poison she took?"

"That was what I swore to and what I should have sworn to again if you placed me back on the stand. The poison, taken with her great excitement, robbed her of consciousness, but there was too little of it or it was too old and weakened to cause death. She would probably have revived in time, possibly did revive. But the clutch of those fingers was fatal; she could not survive it. It costs more than you can ever understand to say this, but questions like yours must be answered. I should not be an honest man otherwise."

To the relief of all Carmel was physically stronger than we expected when she came to retake the stand in the afternoon. But she had lost a little of her courage.

Mr. Fox kept nobody waiting. He asked:

"Miss Cumberland, in your account of the final interview you had with your sister you alluded to a story you had once read together. Will you tell us the name of this story?"

"It was called 'A Legend of Francis I.' It was not a novel, but a little tale she found in some old magazine. It had a great effect upon us. I have never forgotten it."

"Can you relate this tale to us in a few words?"

"I will try. It was very simple. It merely told how a young girl marred her beauty to escape the attentions of the great king and what respect he always showed her after that, even calling her sister."

"While you were holding your sister's hands in what you supposed to be her final moments, did you observe whether or not she still wore on her finger the curious ring given her by Mr. Ranelagh and known as her engagement ring?"

"Yes. I not only saw it, but felt it. It was the only one she wore on her left hand."

Mr. Fox pressed his advantage.

"And when you rose from the lounge and crossed your sister's hands?"

"It was still there. I put that hand uppermost."

"And left the ring on?"

"Oh, yes; oh, yes!" Her whole attitude and face were full of protest. "So that, to the best of your belief, it was still on your sister's finger when you left the room?"

"Certainly, sir; certainly."

There was alarm in her tone now. She was beginning to see that her testimony was not as entirely helpful to Arthur as she had been led to expect.

"Can you say whether you noticed any special chill in the hall when you went out to telephone?"

"I don't remember. I was almost insensible."

"But you do remember having shut the door behind you?"

"Yes."

An open window in the hall—that was what he was trying to prove—open at this time. From the expression of such faces of the jury as I could see I think he had proved it. The next point he made was in the same line. Had she, in all the time she was in the building, heard any noises she could not account for?

"Yes; many times."

"Can you describe these noises?"

"No; they were of all kinds. The pines sighed continually. I knew it was the pines, but I had to listen. Once I heard a rushing sound—it was when the pines stopped swaying for an instant—but I don't know what it was. It was all very dreadful."

"Was this rushing sound such as a window might make on being opened?"

"Possibly. I didn't think of it at the time, but it might have been."

"From what direction did it come?"

"Back of me, for I turned my head about."

"Where were you at the time?"

"At the hearth. It was before Adelaide came in."

"A near sound or a far?"

"Far, but I cannot locate it—indeed, I cannot. I forgot it in a moment."

"But you remember it now?"

"Yes."

"And cannot you remember now any other noises than those you speak of? That time you stepped into the hall—when your teeth chattered, you know—did you hear nothing then but the sighing of the pines?"

She looked startled. Her hands went up, and one of them clutched at her throat; then they fell, and slowly, carefully, like one feeling his way, she answered:

"I had forgotten. I did hear something—a sound in one of the doorways. It was very faint—a sigh—a—A—I don't know what. It conveyed nothing to me then and not much now. But you asked, and I have answered."

"You have done right, Miss Cumberland. The jury ought to know these facts. Was it a human sigh?"

"It wasn't the sigh of the pines."

"And you heard it in one of the doorways? Which doorway?"

"The one opposite the room in which I left my sister."

"The doorway to the large hall?"

"Yes, sir."

Oh, the sinister memories! The moments which I myself had spent there

"ARE YOU READY TO SWEAR YOU DID NOT HEAR A STEP?"

—after this time of her passing through the hall, thank God!—but not long after. And some one had been there before me! Was it Arthur?

Carmel being innocent, who could be guilty but he? I knew of no one. The misery under which I had suffered was only lightened, not removed.

"Miss Cumberland, are you ready to swear that you did not hear a step at that time or see a face?"

"Yes, sir."

"That you only heard a sigh?"

"A sigh, or something like one."

"You went right on?"

"Immediately."

"Entering the telephone room?"

"Yes."

"The door of which you shut?"

"I do not know. I must have, but I—"

"Never mind explanations. You do not know whether you shut it or whether some one else shut it?"

"I do not."

The words fell weightily. They seemed to strike every heart.

"Miss Cumberland, you have said that you telephoned for the police."

"Yes, for help."

"You were some minutes doing this, you say?"

"I have reason to think so, but I don't know definitely. The candle seemed shorter when I went out than when I came in."

"Are you sure you telephoned for help?"

"Help was what I wanted—help for my sister. I do not remember my words."

"And then you left the building?"

"After going for my little bag."

"Did you see any one then or hear any one?"

"No, sir."

"Did you see your sister again?"

"I have said that I just glanced at the couch."

"Wouldn't you know if the pillows had been disturbed?"

"No, sir—not from the look I gave them."

"Then they might have been disturbed—might even have been rearranged—without your knowing it?"

"They might."

"Miss Cumberland, when you left the building, did you leave it alone?"

"I did."

"Was the moon shining?"

"No; it was snowing."

"Did the moon shine when you went to throw the vial out of the window?"

"Yes, very brightly."

"Bright enough for you to see the links?"

"I didn't look at the links."

"Where were you looking?"

"Behind me."

"When you threw the vial out?"

"Yes."

"What was there behind you?"

"A dead sister." Oh, the indescribable tone!

"Forgive me, Miss Cumberland; I do not want to trouble you, but was there not something or some one in the adjoining room besides your dead sister to make you look back?"

"I saw no one. But I looked back—I do not know why."

"You threw the vial out without looking?"

"I felt it slip from my hand."

"Where?"

"Over the window ledge."

Triumph for the defense. The position of the vial, caught in the vines, was accounted for in a very natural manner.

Mr. Fox shifted his inquiries.

"You have said that you wore a hat and coat of your brother's in coming to the clubhouse. Did you keep these articles on?"

"No; I left them in the lower hall."

"Where in the lower hall?"

"On the rack there."

"Was your candle lit?"

"Not then, sir."

"Yet you found the rack?"

"I felt for it. I knew where it was."

"Miss Cumberland, you left the door unlocked when you went out of the building?"

"No—no, I didn't. I had the key, and I locked it. But I didn't realize this till I went to untie my horse; then I found the keys in my hand. But I didn't go back."

"Do you mean that you didn't know you locked the door?"

"I don't remember whether I knew or not at the time. I do remember being surprised and a little frightened when I saw the keys. But I didn't go back."

"Yet you telephoned for the police?"

"Yes."

"And then locked them out?"

"I didn't care—I didn't care."

An infinite number of questions followed. Certain facts had to be brought out, among them the blowing off of her hat on that hurried drive home through the ever thickening snowstorm—a fact easily accounted for when one considered the thick coils of hair over which it had been drawn.

"After you went into the stable to unharness your horse what path did you take in returning to the house?"

"There is only one."

"Did you walk straight through it?"

"As straight as I could. It was snowing heavily, and I was dizzy and felt strange. I may have zigzagged a little."

"You are sure that you did not wander in back of the stable?"

"As sure as I can be of anything."

"Miss Cumberland, I have but a few more questions to ask. Will you look at this portion of a broken bottle?"

She reached out her hand. It was trembling visibly, and her face expressed a deep distress, but she took the piece of broken bottle and looked at it before passing it back.

"Miss Cumberland, did you ever see that bit of broken glass before?"

"No," she said. "I may have seen a whole bottle like that at some time in the clubhouse, but I have no memory of this broken end—none at all."

"I am obliged to you, Miss Cumberland. I will trouble you no more today."

Then he threw up his head and smiled a slow sarcastic smile at Mr. Moffat.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Washington, June 2.—At a hearing of the committee Representative Stanley of Kentucky, chairman of the house committee which is investigating the United States Steel corporation declared that he had moved against the steel corporation in congress because he had heard that there was a plan on foot to nullify any possible tariff action by bringing about a world-wide fixing of steel prices.

This statement was made while Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the executive committee of the steel corporation, was on the stand. Judge Gary promptly denied that there was any justification for such a statement. He readily offered to furnish to the committee all the minutes and records of the iron and steel institute, which Chairman Stanley apparently regarded as a possible instrumentality in this international understanding.

This was only one of several instances in which Judge Gary showed his frankness and willingness to open the affairs of the steel corporation and of the trade in general to the committee. He made a favorable impression with the committee in this respect.

ITS OBJECT WAS TO AVERT PANIC

That Is What Gary Says of Big Steel Deal.

DENIES GATES'S VERSION OF IT

Absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company by the Steel Trust Not a "Squeeze," as Gates Put It, but a High Patriotic Undertaking, According to Steel Head's Story of the Case.

Washington, June 3.—All the details of the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the United States Steel corporation were laid bare by Judge E. T. Gary, chairman of the executive committee of the United States Steel corporation, before the Stanley Investigating committee of the house.

Judge Gary laid before the committee the inside facts of the all-night conferences that were held in J. P. Morgan's library in the days of the 1907 panic, described how he and Henry C. Frick had rushed by special train to Washington to confer with President Roosevelt, how the long-distance telephone from the White House to New York had been held open for a flash of the result while the conference was on, and how finally widespread financial disaster was averted by the purchase by the steel corporation of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company.

Judge Gary denied emphatically the statements made by John W. Gates before the house committee that the taking over of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the United States Steel corporation was a "squeeze," a forced sale. He declared that the purchase was made at the solicitation of Grant B. Schley of the banking and brokerage firm of Moore & Schley, and his friends to save that concern from going under and to prevent the financial calamity that would certainly follow its downfall.

The United States Steel corporation, according to Judge Gary, after repeated urgings, stepped into the breach and paid 100 for a stock which they did not consider at the time to be worth more than 65. The difference of 35 points represented what the United States Steel corporation felt was its duty to pay to avert the threatening panic. In all, it turned about $30,000,000 over to the firm of Moore & Schley and enabled them to weather the storm.

As to the charge that the steel corporation had taken advantage of a desperate financial situation to force the sale of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company and thus throttle an independent competitor, Judge Gary presented figures showing that the Tennessee Coal and Iron company controlled only about 2 per cent of the steel business of the country at the time of the purchase as compared with 56 per cent by the steel corporation.

MEMPHIS LYNCHING

The First That Has Occurred There in Thirty Years.

Memphis, Tenn., June 3.—The first lynching in Memphis in thirty years took place when fifty mounted men overpowered deputy sheriffs and seized Pat Crump, a negro, as the officers and their prisoner were boarding a streetcar. Crump had attacked Mrs. H. L. Whittington, wife of a wealthy cotton planter. One of the mob lassoed the negro and dragged him through the street in horsethief fashion. Crump was hanged just outside the city limits.

Panama Must Clean Up.

Washington, June 3.—President Taft has directed Secretary of State Knox to suggest to the Panamanian republic the desirability of cleaning up the town. This action was taken on the complaint of Colonel Goethals, chief engineer of the canal, who complained about the prevalence of gambling in Panama.

Cashier Loses $13,000.

Minneapolis, June 3.—J. D. Bren, cashier at the University of Minnesota, was attacked and robbed of more than $13,000 by three men, who waylaid him at the edge of the campus. He had drawn the money from a safe deposit vault to make refunds to students.
